MSHDA BOARD VOTES TO REMOVE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR POLESKI

With the Michigan State Housing Development Authority board now being made up of a majority of Governor Gretchen Whitmer's appointees, the board voted 4-2 on Thursday to remove Earl Poleski from his position as executive director of MSHDA.

The board voted to remove Poleski after he refused a request to resign. Poleski, a former Republican House member, began the position when most of the board was made up of former Governor Rick Snyder's appointees.

On Wednesday, Gov. Whitmer replaced two Snyder appointees on the MSHDA board whose terms were expiring. Whitmer appointed Regina Bell of Detroit to replace Luke Terry and she reappointed Jennifer Grau of Lansing. The terms for both will now expire March 10, 2023.

The MSHDA board named Gary Heidel as acting executive director.

NESSSEL ISSUES OPINION CALLING LINE 5 AUTHORITY UNCONSTITUTIONAL – WHITMER HALTS WORK

Attorney General Dana Nessel issued an opinion on Thursday arguing that the law that created a new authority to approve Enbridge's Line 5 tunnel agreement with the state—negotiated by former Gov. Rick Snyder—is unconstitutional.

Nessel wrote that the law is unconstitutional "because its provisions go beyond the scope of what was disclosed in its title." Because the content of the new law does not match its title, Nessel argued that it violates the Title-Object Clause of the Michigan Constitution.

The opinion will likely set Nessel and Whitmer in opposition to the Republican-controlled Legislature in court, where they will continue to battle over the legality of the law which was passed during Lamé-Duck in December.

If a court ruling finds the law unconstitutional, it would apply retroactively, making the authority, its board, and any of its actions void. This includes voiding the board's approval of the Line 5 tunnel.

After Nessel issued her opinion, Gov. Whitmer signed an executive directive to order all state departments to stop any work related to the utility tunnel that, according to the agreement, is meant to house Enbridge's Line 5 oil pipeline under the Straights of Mackinac.

MINIMUM WAGE AND PAID SICK LEAVE TO TAKE EFFECT FRIDAY WHILE UNDER LEGAL REVIEW

Two controversial laws passed during lame-duck in December—regarding minimum wage and paid sick leave—will take effect on Friday, even though they are still under legal and judicial review.

According to the new laws, the state's minimum wage will increase by 20 cents from $9.25 to $9.45 per hour, and businesses with more than 50 employees will be required to offer workers one hour of paid medical leave for every 35 hours worked.

Both laws were created by legislative changes to voter-initiated proposals. Because the legislation was adopted and then changed, both the Michigan Supreme Court and Attorney General Dana Nessel are reviewing the changes.

The Republican-led House and Senate asked the Michigan Supreme Court for an advisory opinion on whether lawmakers acted within their constitutional authority when they adopted and amended the minimum wage and paid sick leave laws during the same term.

Sen. Stephanie Chang (D-Detroit) also asked Attorney General Dana Nessel to issue an opinion on the issue.

With fair wage supporters and others hopeful that the Supreme Court will issue an opinion against the amendment, small business associations are in support of the changed laws and have called on Nessel to honor a prior opinion by former Attorney General Bill Schuette ruling the Legislature's strategy legal, and to wait for the Supreme Court opinion before issuing an Attorney General opinion.

WHITMER ORDERS AUDIT AFTER MCCA POSTS $220 ASSESSMENT FEE PER VEHICLE

The Michigan Catastrophic Claims Association announced Wednesday that it will charge Michigan motorists an assessment of $220 per vehicle beginning July 1—a nearly 15 percent increase.

Following the announcement, Governor Gretchen Whitmer ordered an audit of the MCCA by the Department of Insurance and Financial Services, in the name of transparency to see if the fee increase is necessary.

The association said the increase is a result of increasing costs for increasing claims. The announcement also served as a catalyst for more calls to action for no-fault auto insurance reform, and for more transparency for the MCCA. Currently, the MCCA, which is a state-created consortium of private insurers, is not subject to public records and meeting laws.

Rep. Jason Wentworth (R-Clare), chair of the House Select Committee on Reducing Car Insurance Rates, said that MCCA fee increase only makes the problems in the no-fault system more visible, and the issue of high car insurance premiums worse.

The $220 MCCA fee includes $177 to cover expected new claims, along with $43 per vehicle to go toward an estimated $3.9 billion deficit for past claims.

Currently, Michigan' no-fault law calls for the MCCA to reimburse automobile insurers for medical claims that total more than $580,000. Between 2014 and 2018, the number of this type of claim has reportedly increase 47 percent.
