NEGOTIATIONS TO BEGIN AFTER HOUSE PASSES BUDGET AND ALTERNATIVE ROAD FUNDING PLAN

After finalizing details last Thursday, the Michigan House passed a spending plan that eliminates the sales tax on gasoline, raises the gas tax a corresponding 6% over two years, and dedicates roughly $850 million a year to roads and infrastructure. The plan, supported by Republicans only, calls for backfilling the lost sales tax revenue to schools and local governments with a combined $500 million in returned School Aid Fund money which was previously going to fund universities, and an estimated $425 million in General Fund cuts from the Governor's proposed budget.

Governor Gretchen Whitmer gave guarded criticism of the House road plan, commenting that the negotiations are “only in the 4th inning of a 9-inning baseball game.”

Gov. Whitmer did, however, criticize the overall budget by calling the cuts to K-12 schools, local government and state IT spending dangerous and irresponsible.

Following the House actions, the Senate quickly zeroed out the House-passed budgets as part of the normal appropriations process, and returned them to the House as expected. This sets the stage for negotiations to begin between legislative leaders and Gov. Whitmer on both the budget and a road funding plan during summer recess – before the full legislature returns and budget conference committees begin in the fall.

PFAS FOAM BILLS START MOVING

Legislation that regulates the use of firefighting foam containing PFAS was reported out of the House Natural Resources and Outdoor Recreation committee in early June after several weeks of negotiations.

House Bills 4389, 4390 and 4391 would require fire departments to report if and when they use foam containing PFAS to fight a petroleum fire to the MDEQ. The legislation would also prohibit using the PFAS-containing foam for training purposes, and require all fire departments with the foam to report how much they have of it to the DEQ. The bills also require the state to adopt additional rules for the use and storage of the foam and create procedures for handling contaminated firefighter gear. The legislation now goes to the Committee on Ways and Means for further discussion.

MICHIGAN FARMERS GET $15 MILLION IN AID

After an almost unanimous vote on Thursday, the Michigan House and Senate passed a bill allocating $15 million in grant funding to provide relief to Michigan's farmers affected by one of the rainiest planting seasons on record. The bill now goes to Gov. Whitmer's desk for her signature.

The $15 million from House Bill 4234, sponsored by Rep. Mark Huizenga (R-Walker), can be used to help with loan origination fees and to keep interest rates low.

In order to get the funding, the Senate took an unrelated appropriations bill for the upcoming fiscal year, emptied the content and replaced it with the supplemental funding which will help farmers for the current fiscal year. The House passed the bill just hours later.

HOUSE BILL ADDRESSES MICROGRIDS FOR CRITICAL FACILITIES

A bipartisan bill that would allow critical facilities like hospitals to have their own power microgrids was introduced in the House this week. Designed to protect critical facilities like hospitals or police and fire stations from loss of power during power outages and emergencies, House Bill 4477 would allow these facilities to disconnect from the main electric grid and use electricity generated through alternative sources, like solar, during outages and emergencies. These facilities are currently prohibited from generating their own renewable energy during main grid outages. The bill also includes a required study to learn more about how microgrids could be broadly implemented for residential users.

Obama Staffer to Challenge Amash

Democrat Nicholas Colvin, an Ionia native and personal aide to former President Barack Obama, announced Tuesday that he will be running against Republican U.S. Rep. Justin Amash. Colvin worked for Obama when he was a senator, and in the White House Counsel's office when he was president.
